RACE-HATE CRIMES AGAINST WHITES — A GROWING TREND

Another racial murder against a lone white man by a gang of Asians slipped past almost unnoticed recently when it was dubbed a 'road rage' attack.

The murder happened after four Bangladeshis met Mark Sharp, 39, as he was on his way to buy a kebab for his son in Luton. Insults were exchanged and Abdul Tahid, Jomir Miah, Abdul Shahid and Forid Miah followed Mark while Tahid called for reinforcements on his mobile phone. Rejan Uddin and Abdul Aberdin arrived with weapons within minutes, whereupon all six men attacked Mr. Sharp with baseball bats leaving him unconscious. He was then kicked before Tahid stabbed Mark in the temple. Mark was left to die.

Mark's father, George said: "They have done it before. This time they saw a white man on his own and thought: 'Let's have a go'. What else can you call their motivation if it wasn't racist?"

Poor Mark was a victim of the evil policy of 'multi-racialism' favoured by Labour and Tory politicians which is destroying Britain's social cohesiveness, sense of community and literally killing families. Mark's wife and young son are heartbroken and have had their lives torn apart by the consequence of this evil policy. Mark himself of course, is dead.

The idea of inviting literally millions of dissimilar people with totally foreign cultures, histories and expectations to live cheek by jowl with Britons was a disaster in the making and so it has proved. One only has to look at the US, Asia, Africa, the ex-Soviet Union or Yugoslavia — anywhere there are different peoples living together to see the results.

Now that the failure is apparent, BN asks when will the politicians responsible take action to protect Britain and the British people from their ruinous policies?

Passing sentence, Mr. Justice Dyson said: "It was an appalling attack. Six men pitched into one man on his own." Rejan Uddin and Abdul Tahid got life for murder, and three others got just 4 years for manslaughter. The sixth suspect, Aberdin, has fled to Bangladesh.

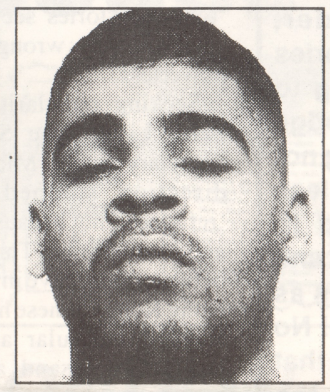

But if the Luton race murder was largely covered up in Bedfordshire and totally ignored elsewhere, the whole country was given a rare glimpse into the frightening world of racial attacks against white people, when the attackers of Gareth Wilshaw were sentenced to prison last month. Marlon Howell, Gary Hutchinson and Danau Drummond punched, kicked and stamped a man into a coma. As they did so, they screamed "white bastard" at him. The attack left their victim, Gareth Wilshaw, 24, on a life-support machine. Gary suffered severe brain injury, is unable to walk and can scarcely talk. It is a miracle he lived at all however, since doctors did not expect him to survive what police say was a vicious and unprovoked racial attack.

The attack took place last Christmas after Drummond had been thrown out of a Nottingham night club and was spoiling for trouble. The group attacked three other people before Wilshaw — all of them white — leaving one man needing 34 stitches. The racial nature of the attacks were apparent by the accompanying racial abuse.

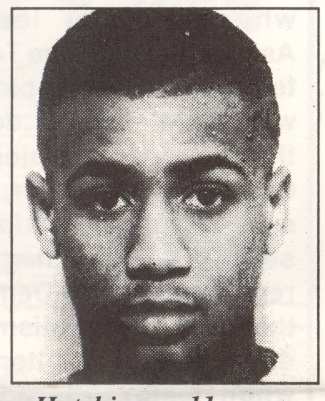

The three were only caught because of the efforts of Phillip Ellis who witnessed the attack and followed the three to a burger bar where he pointed them out to police. Phil said: "It was the longest minute I have ever known. My natural instinct was to go to help, but my sense told me not to, otherwise I would probably be with him [Gareth] now. It was disgusting. It wasn't just kicking. It was stamping on the head. I could hear them shouting "White bastard."'

Powell: 11 years

Drummond: 12½ years

Hutchinson: 11 years

The judge named Drummond as the main instigator: "You stamped mercilessly on that boy's head with sickening violence for the best part of a whole minute while your victim was unconscious and helpless on the ground. While this was going on you other two joined in the attack like a pack of animals attacking their prey."

Judge Dudley Bennett then sentenced Howell and Hutchinson both 18, to 11 years in a Young Offender's Institution and ring leader, Drummond to 10 years because of his guilty plea. Drummond also got 30 months for the other attack to run consecutively, a total of 12½ years.

The Wilshaw family have suffered terribly from the attack: Gary's mum and dad could barely recognise their own son in hospital. His head was bruised and swollen to the size of a football; Gary's sister had a nervous breakdown, and Gary's life has been destroyed.

These are not isolated incidents. A clear pattern of racial attacks directed against whites is emerging. In Halifax and Dewsbury, West Yorkshire, police are investigating a whole series of racial attacks on white teenagers by Asian gangs. In Nelson, Lancashire, David Taylor, 17, was the victim of yet another unprovoked racial attack by Asian youths. He was hit so hard that his teeth were knocked back into his mouth at right angles to his gum. This happened in broad daylight on the main road. In an unconnected incident, Mohamed Latif, also of Nelson, has been gaoled for 27 months for a racial attack on John Eastwood who was stabbed in the chest and called "White trash."

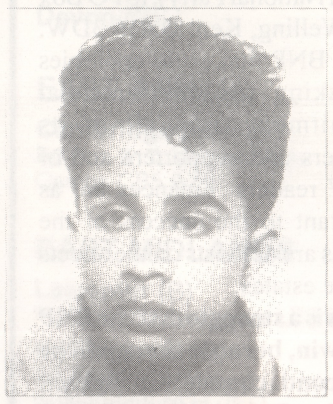

Nor are women safe from this kind of racial violence. The example of a 23-year-old white woman from Reading still too frightened to be named should illuminate. The 23-year-old, a Reading shop manageress, was walking in the town centre with a friend when a gang of ten black women in their late teens and early twenties began racially abusing her for no apparent reason from across the road.

Then, without warning or provocation, the ten launched a ferocious assault on the woman which left her with severe bruising all over her body. As the gang attacked and started hitting the two women they called out "Get the white bitch." Her friend was also attacked and left with bruising. The gang quickly swelled to twenty, all kicking and punching. At one point the woman thought she was being rescued, but it was a false hope as a man, also black, intervened just long enough to steal her handbag and purse before running off.

Later, the 23-year-old said: "I was lying on the floor getting kicked and I just wanted to die. I was in so much pain." Police spokeswoman Sherri Roberts confirmed the unprovoked nature of the attack and said she was amazed that the young woman, who took the brunt of the attack, had suffered no serious internal injuries.

There is a solution to the violence and the economic and social dislocation and strife caused by immigration. It is repatriation: A sensible, orderly and well-funded repatriation that would benefit all. The multi-racial experiment has been a disaster. It is not enlightened, it is evil. All races need their own space for development and growth.

The evil of multi-racialism destroys all races, all cultures in an effort to erase racial and cultural differences and so leads to needless social strife. The BNP wishes to end that strife. And the way to do it is through repatriation — for the good of all.

POLITICAL GAMES

It's conference season once again. First off the block have been the Liberal Democrats. It says a lot in the undignified tussle between Labour and the Tories, that the Lib-Dems have managed to look quite good. Needless to say, it's all show. As Labour have drifted rightwards, the Lib-Dems have looked more socialist, calculating that the protest vote is in the bag and that their newly acquired radicalism may hoover up the disgruntled Labour vote. One particular conference 'sound bite' did indeed strike a chord when Lib-Dem leader, Ashdown said: "The Tories tell lies on tax, hoping to win again. Labour dodge the truth on tax, hoping not to lose again." Later, less successfully, he tried to seize the Union flag and represent the Lib-Dems as the party of patriotism! No doubt he has forgotten that when Major offered the Hong Kong Chinese three million passports to Britain, he wanted to offer them five million in a crazy auction as to who could give away the most passports to foreigners. This will come back to haunt him as Hong Kong is ceded to China next year — and before the election.

Meanwhile, John Major and 'Tory' Blair were locked in a slanging match over morality. Major had the cheek to claim the moral high ground after he and his ministers have lied over taxation to stay in power, after Tories have been found guilty of corruption, of cash-for-questions, of the adulterous behaviour of Government Ministers and homo frolickings in Paris hotels of others. Perhaps he has forgotten the wickedness of Westminster Tories to stay in power, of the shady deals done to save Tory MPs from bankruptcy, of the blackmail perpetrated by his whips against Tory MPs to avoid defeat in the Commons; the corruption of the honours list, the latest beneficiary being one of the Saatchi brothers who had masterminded previous Tory election victories. Major has absolutely nothing to tell the rest of the nation about morality!

IMMIGRANTS POUR IN

One of the themes of the news this year has been the story of illegal immigrants and 'refugees' who come to Britain to take advantage of the generous welfare benefits available. In April, BN reported upon John Major's wheeze to give 2 million passports to Hong Kong Chinese. At the same time, the Home Office published figures that showed Britain needs 27 new towns the size of Milton Keynes to house 4½ million people very quickly. The announcement was not a coincidence.

The first such new town has been earmarked for Bedfordshire between Luton and Bedford. Other areas under consideration include East Anglia, Scotland, Wales, the South West, South East and the North and Midlands. In short, everywhere. Britain's existing towns and cities will also take their share of the brunt.

Upon arrival into Britain, illegals and 'refugees' are entitled to full benefits, including income support, child, housing and disability benefit. If threatened with deportation, a lengthy appeal procedure will string it out before they simply disapear, never to be seen again. Clearly, if Britain were an all-white country as it was only two generations ago, this could not be done since their presence would be blindingly obvious and the police could soon have them on their way.

Most Britons watching news of these 'refugee' stories seethe with anger. They know it's wrong, but feel utterly powerless.

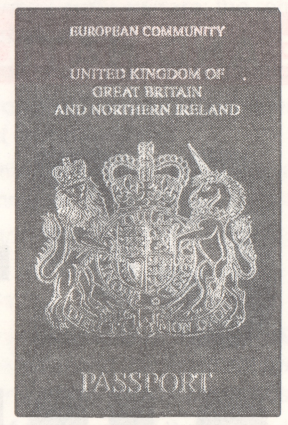

Seeking popularity, in February Peter Lilley, the Social Security Secretary under Michael Howard's direction stopped benefits for 'refugees', not because the Tories are anti-immigration (Thatcher and Major between them have invited 5½ million Hong Kong Chinese here) but because looking muscular against the odd hundred thousand asylum seekers would divert attention away from the 5½ million invited here next year.

But in June, an appeal court ruling ruled that Peter Lilley had exceeded his powers by withdrawing benefits to refugees. Howard then restored the benefit cuts in his Asylum bill then going through Parliament.

The bogus nature of the 'refugees' was apparent when after benefits were withdrawn, the number of applications fell to a quarter of what they had been. Immediately after the appeal ruling in June restoring benefits, applications doubled to 1,700 in July.

Although great publicity has been given to the Home Secretary's benefit cuts, the reality is that such cuts apply only to those who fail to claim asylum on the day that they turn up. As a result, those in the know are unaffected and news of the curbs is even now in the hands of organised fraudsters abroad who simply brief those waiting to come as to how to beat the system and claim on day one.

But even those who have turned up already and have failed to qualify are still able to beat the system. Dozens beat the curbs by taking day trips to France and then returning to make claims under different names. Customs officers fear that hundreds will soon follow. Customs officers are unable to refuse a claim once the magic word 'asylum' has been uttered and all claimants immediately qualify for the full package of benefits — income support, child allowance and housing benefit. The claimants, because of a backlog of 75,000 refugees to be processed continue to qualify for the benefits for up to two or three years until the appeal system is exhausted. Whereupon, like so many others, once a deportation order is issued, they can simply disappear, sometimes back to France to try the whole scam on once again. Or they get married (to a British citizen of course!) and had children in a deliberate attempt to entrench themselves in the country and play upon the soppy liberal consciences of opinion makers in the press and in Parliament. 650 are held in detention centres. The rest — the majority — stay in hostels and report to police once per month. It used to be once per week but police said that they were unable to cope with the thousands involved. When the change was announced in April, John Tincey, national officer of the Immigration Service Union said: "We are appalled by this move. The asylum system is in chaos. Extending reporting periods will make it easier for people to abscond."

Passport to benefits and the good life

Frighteningly, the European Union and its policy of no internal border controls mean that illegals entering the EU can head for anywhere within Europe — no questions asked. Spain and France, the weak links next to Africa are wrestling with an immigrant problem that is even bigger than Britain's.

THE ILLEGALS

Many illegals come to Britain to visit relatives or to study. Once here, they never go back. One man in the news was Hing Fai 'Albert' Tong. He came to Britain 17 years ago on a one month visitor's visa in 1979. He has been here ever since having married an English woman and fathered a child. The Home Office issued a deportation order and 'Albert' went on the run, seeking sanctuary in a Methodist Chapel .

Finally, 'Albert' was arrested by police in the chapel and held in custody prior to deportation. Stringing out his 17-year overstay even more, 'Albert' collapsed with a heart condition and is not to be deported until he is medically fit to travel!

● Mumtaz Begum, 58, from Pakistan arrived in Britain on a three-month visa in 1986 and has stayed ever since. As with 'Albert', Begum is 'unwell'. The widow, who had been living in Swindon, defied two Home Office deportation orders and has fled into hiding. She is unlikely to ever be found again.

● Another illegal, Mr. Akinbolu pitched up in Britain from Nigeria hoping for the good life on Britain's easy welfare system. His student visa expired in 1992, but he stayed on and gained a well-appointed flat in Hackney, East London. He was arrested in 1994 but incredibly, he was then released to go back to his flat. When he got there, he found that the council had changed the locks and evicted him.

Akinbolu, with the help of taxpayer-funded bodies appealed against the eviction and won against his 'unlawful' eviction. The presiding judges said that the council could not evict tenants just because they were illegal immigrants! Most British people the length and breadth of the country want to know 'Why not?'

● Yasmeen Ghaffar is another illegal who entered the country illegally in 1991. The usual route to entrench herself in Britain was adopted and Ghaffar had a daughter born to her as soon as possible knowing that Britain's soppy liberal bleeding hearts might consider her case more leniently if caught. When the Home Office made a deportation order against her, she appealed on the ground that her British-born daughter had her civil rights ignored by the Home Secretary.

● The barefaced cheek of these illegals takes some beating. One woman from Nigeria, Georgina Aiyenuro, came to Britain on a false passport in 1990. Since that time, she used no less than 21 different identities to defraud social security. Aiyenuro was only caught because she was filmed at Marks and Spencer's store in Kensington, where she worked, and seen dipping her hand into the till and stealing more than £2,500. Following her arrest, police discovered £5,000 in building society accounts and a mountain of expensive clothes. When charged and served with deportation papers, Aiyenuro claimed political asylum!

She hopes that two of her children born in Britain will help her case to

The French deport 11,000 illegals per year. If they didn't, France would be an African country within a few years.

THE WELLING CLUB

The land that was ours now belongs to the alien, decadent, and corrupt. Many of our people have lost all sense of racial identity and pride. The heritage, culture and honour of the once proud Briton no longer has any value or meaning. Our children are facing a future devoid of hope as Britain becomes part of the Third World nightmare.

In this time of crisis, only one defiant movement fights back for Britain and the British: the British National Party.

Those who stand against our movement of a national rebirth are many in number and very powerful.

In order for the BNP to continue to promote our message of British Nationalism we urgently need YOUR financial support.

We need financial support in order to build the British National Party into an unstoppable force for racial and national renewal: we need money to be able to increase our propaganda output; to fight elections; to educate and train our members; to expand our literature; to help develop our organisational infrastructure. In short, we need money to be able to fight back for Britain and the British.

Therefore, British Nationalist is asking you to help support the British National Party by becoming a member of the Welling Club, because your financial support is vital to the efficient running of the only organisation which can save the Country and People that you love.

Membership of the Welling Club is open to all persons, whether or not BNP members, willing to contribute £20 each month to the party's funds.

Welling Club members will be sent regular bulletins informing them of progress in achieving various BNP projects for which their donations are required. They will also be invited to attend free of charge, an annual club dinner addressed by the BNP chairman.

Those wishing to join the Welling Club should apply, sending their initial £20 contribution (made out to British National Party), to PO Box 117, Welling, Kent DA16 3DW.

The BNP makes no apologies for asking for this financial commitment from all of its members and supporters and of all BN readers. Finances are as important to the success of the BNP as are activists on the streets and the estates.

This is a struggle that the BNP must win, because there will be no second chance for Britain and the British. The British National Party is relying on your help. Don't let the party down. Don't let your race and nation down. Help build the victory. Join the Welling Club!

stay. Police believe that Aiyenuro still has another passport with which to return to Britain.

● Overwhelmed by the sheer numbers of the immigrant flood sweeping into Britain, it is heartening to see the odd successful case where cheeky illegals get their comeuppance. Bayo Omoyiola, a Nigerian, came to Britain in 1988 as a student. He never went back however and found himself a job with Liverpool City Council as a housing officer. When Immigration Services finally caught up with Omoyiola at the beginning of this year, they served him with deportation papers. Omoyiola appealed against deportation.

Just a little while afterwards, Omoyiola accompanied Liverpool MP Bob Parry to China on a fact finding mission. When Omoyiola attempted to board the aeroplane back to Britain he was told that he couldn't do so as he didn't have a visa. Omoyiola was stranded in Hong Kong for months!

● Nor is the problem with immigrants soaking the benefit system a simple black and white issue. Immigrants from Poland have doubled over the past year and in February there was an end to the well-publicised saga of two immigrants, Spanish and Italian, both suffering with HIV who, as EU nationals, simply pitched up in this country to claim all the benefits that Britain had to offer. The case made headlines and after Westminster Council made them homeless, the Tory Press rejoiced.

The last laugh however, was had by Gaudienzio Castelli and Jose Tristan-Garcia who won an appeal ruling — funded by the taxpayer — against Westminster Council. The ruling, in line with Euro-law, means that Europeans can simply turn up and local councils are obliged to find them accommodation. The full range of welfare benefits — income support, housing benefit etc. is of course not to be denied either.

Because no agency collates the data, the costs of fraudulent claims by illegals, 'refugees' and EU nationals is unknown but must run into £billions.

THE SMUGGLERS AND THE PASSPORT RACKETEERS

Two men, Ali Al and Ali Gun, who smuggled 14 Kurds into Britain walked free from court in March when the judge decided that they acted out of humanity. One was given a conditional discharge and the other a suspended prison sentence of just four months. They were arrested when customs officers with night vision equipment saw the illegals climb out of a lorry in a layby on the A2 in Kent two years ago. With sentencing like this is it any wonder that the smuggling business into Britain is rife?

● Another smuggler, German lorry driver Carlo Cazor was gaoled for just two years for smuggling fifty Asians into Britain inside his lorry. He unloaded them in a quite cul de sac in Holloway, north London and residents were amazed to see fifty men jump down from the lorry and run into waiting cars as they made their getaway. Cazor, however, was unable to escape himself as he couldn't reverse his lorry past road works and was arrested by police shortly afterwards. Of the fifty illegal immigrants, only six were arrested.

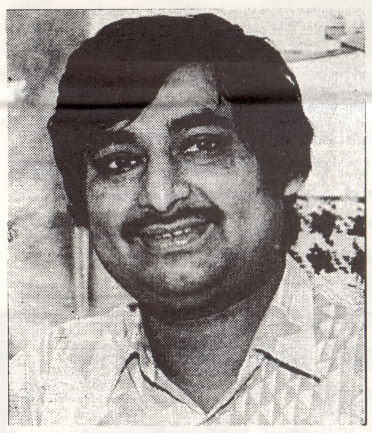

● Fraudster Julius Adenekan worked for the Home Office. By day he served deportation orders, by night he raided Home Office computer files of details of people facing deportation. His 'services' were advice to flee underground and avoid arrest; milk social security with fake claims; take part in sham weddings with British nationals and con the Home Office by reapplying for political asylum under false names. Adenekan charged £3,000 for an arranged marriage.

● Another passport racket to reach the news concerned immigrants working as civil servants. They used their positions to obtain confidential details of persons living and dead and obtained passports for them for sale to illegals in West Africa. One of the reasons this crime is so rife is because it is: (a)so incredibly easy; (b)easy money and; (c)the demand is so strong.

In this case, Rachel Olorode, Grace Idhe, Rachel Mirza and Monica Baptiste were all found guilty. But the pathetically inadequate sentencing provides no deterrent whatsoever. Baptiste got just 2 years; Mirza and Idhe got 18 months and Olorode received just one year. Which means that they will be out in 1 year, 9 months and 6 months respectively.

● The professional passport fixers can earn up to £10,000 per week by selling just six to seven passports. Mujibul Hoque ran his scam out of an East London travel agency. He obtained passports by the simple expedient of buying them from their rightful owners and then doctoring the so-called tamper-proof photos before selling them for between £1,500 and £1,700.

● The News of the World, who love a passport scam, were quickly off on the trail of another gang run by Mohammed Patel and Mubarek Ahmed Bari, himself a Pakistani who has claimed political asylum. They ran an extensive fraud, not only selling passports for £1,700 each but also offering an escort service into the country for a further £1,300. Other gang members were Patel's son, Irfan — the escort and Rizwan who did most of the leg work.

Mujibul Hoque

In 1984 there were 2,900 applications for asylum, of which 32 per cent were proved valid. In 1994 there were 32,830 applications (which did not include dependants), of which only 4 per cent were valid. Last year, claims rose to 43,965 and again this figure does not include dependants. Benefits for asylum seekers last year cost the taxpayer £215 million. Of the nearly 44,000 refugees last year, 16,000 were ordered to leave, but only 2,800 were actually deported. Those awaiting a decision rose to 85,000.

THE LAW'S A JOKE

Even when a judge recommends deportation, there is an army of people, all funded by the taxpayer, who will seek to keep an illegal in Britain. A classic case was that of Idris Belaifa, 42, a North African. Belaifa, an illegal immigrant, came before the Liverpool Crown Court in October 1994 and found guilty of destroying a house and damaging 14 others and two cars, in each case being reckless as to whether the lives of others would be endangered, and also of two offences of attempting to make fraudulent insurance claims.

Judge Hamilton sentenced Belaifa to a total of 12 years and made a recommendation of deportation after the sentence was complete. The deportation order however was allowed to be appealed and at the appeal hearing in February the deportation order was struck down. In the summing up, Mr Justice Blofeld remarked that the trial judge (Hamilton) had said merely: "I make an order for your deportation" and said no more. Blofeld continued: "The judge might have had all the matters that had been drawn to his attention by counsel in mind but unfortunately had not referred to them. He should have done so."

The law is an ass!

WHAT CAN BE DONE?

In Germany, once the home of the most liberal asylum and immigration rules in the world, the rules on immigration have been tightened to make it one of the toughest. German laxness and generosity had made it a Mecca for illegals wanting a free ride. In 1992 more than 483,000 'refugees' applied for sanctuary. Refugees are now no longer accepted if they first pass through a 'safe' country. As all Germany's neighbours are safe, it means that refugees arriving overland will no longer be admitted.

What then can be done about the situation? Readers of BN will of course know that the party has a very simple but effective answer to the problem. It is called repatriation. The idea of Britain being the world's 'soft touch' is just not on. Of course, there is no way that either the Labour or Tory parties would embrace such a scheme. There are too many vested interests at stake, too much money and too many well-paid, cushy jobs.

Nevertheless, there is something that even they can do short of repatriation. It is this: The situation where illegal immigrants have a vast and costly appeals procedure available to them should be ended forthwith. The cost is enormous and open to abuse. In fact the system invites abuse and it is being abused by tens of thousands every year. Furthermore, customs officers should have an automatic right, as they do in Germany, to refuse asylum applications at the point of entry. It is not an ideal solution, but it would at least be a start in the right direction. By little acorns do large Oak trees grow!

● Late in August, the whole of Britain woke up to the story of the jumbo jet hijacked by Iraqis andflown from Sudan to Stanstead airport. Upon touchdown they gave themselves up and all seven Iraqi hijackers and fourteen members of their families claimed political asylum.

The Camp of the Saints* by Jean Raspail. This novel details a massive third world armada involving tens of millions of Asians who cram onto thousands of ships to take them to Europe calculating that the West does not have the political will to stop them. They calculate correctly and the whole of Western Europe is overrun by the third worlders. The liberal bleeding hearts and political paralysis is described in masterly fashion. Raspail provides a frighteningly realistic scenario of what could all to easily happen.

THE PRESS: HYPOCRISY AND HUMBUG

Norman TEBBIT

Telling it like it is...

The Guardian is Britain's leading 'intellectual' socialist newspaper. Thoroughly liberal and politically correct. The Guardian is a newspaper that is always quick to castigate injustices against blacks and Asians by whites, though it is ever silent when whites are under attack and facing injustice. The best writers it says are in The Guardian. As readers can see, not a single writer is black. Why not? Where is the Guardian's equal opportunities' policy? Can it be because there are no good black writers? Or that if there are, the Guardian will not employ them?

Another disciple of hypocrisy is The Sun. The Sun quite rightly slams many facets of the lunacy of political correctness and the disastrous realities of multi-racialism. It is however a simple safety valve for the status quo. Its editorials never quite reach the logical conclusion that the multi-racial experiment has been a disastrous mistake and that it is time to put an end to it. Likewise, it never misses an opportunity to denigrate the BNP.

Norman Tebbit is a prime example of The Sun's hypocrisy in action. Norman, the Sun says, 'Tells is like it is'. BN often agrees with everything Tebbit has to say in his column. But it's a great pity that Tebbit didn't 'tell it like it is' when he was a government minister: At a time when he and Prime Minister Thatcher — another arch hypocrite — signed Britain up to the Maastricht treaty and the Single European Act. Railing against Europe now is too late. Tebbit had his chance, as did Thatcher — and they followed the European path to a single government. BN says they are hypocrites — both of them!

TORY, LABOUR SHAME

Tory MP, Roy Thomason has announced that he is standing down at the next election. His local party was only hours away from a vote on his deselection for failing to declare financial advantages received outside Parliament. Sir Gordon Downey, the Parliamentary Commissioner for Standards (the corruption buster) said the MP had received a "substantial" material advantage "not generally available to members of the public."

Thomason was rescued in a secret deal put together by the Chairman of the Royal Bank of Scotland and ex-Tory Minister, Lord Younger to delay bankruptcy proceedings for two years to avoid a damaging by-election. The deal was put together to avoid a by-election and another certain defeat for the Tories.

THOMASON: forced to go

● Three Tory councillors in Brent, London have been found by the local government ombudsman to have 'broken national codes of conduct'. The three improperly intervened in a planning permission case sought by a local Tory businessman. The hotelier, who had earlier planning requests turned down, would likely have been similarly refused but for the intervention of the councillors, who acted because of his donations to the local Tory association. The day after the planning permission was granted, the local association received another £2,000 gift from the man. Amazingly, the corruption of the councillors will not be met by a prosecution.

● Leading Labour councillor and Parliamentary agent for Labour spin doctor Peter Mandelson, Mr. Bernard Carr has got into trouble yet again.

Last month, BN reported that Carr had been caught fiddling his expenses. Now he is homeless after having been evicted from his flat because of rent arrears owed to the council on which he himself was Housing Chairman!

Carr's rent was £47.13 per week and he received housing benefit of £39.40, leaving him just £7.73 to find. The eviction order was made after Carr owed £590 in arrears.

THATCHER, MAJOR & MAXWELL — ROBBERS ALL!

Thousands of National Bus pensioners are in line for a £200 million windfall payout from the government after the pensions ombudsman, Julian Farrand ordered the government to pay back the money robbed from the pension fund by the Thatcher government. The pension fund was looted at the time the company was privatised in 1986, (coincidently the same time Robert Maxwell robbed his own employees' pension fund).

BN awaits with interest to see whether a similar ruling will be made with respect to the looting in 1994 by the Major government of £2 billion from British Coal pension funds.

STUPID GREEDY RACE-MIXER LOSES CUSTODY OF SON

Following BN's feature last month on the abortion debate and in which Mandy Allwood was brought to task for her irresponsible behaviour comes news that her ex-husband has won custody of their five-year-old son, Charley. Allwood, who became pregnant with octuplets to her black lover, Paul Hudson had given Charley scant regard in the weeks following her outrageous pregnancy and the cash-for-babies deal with the News of the World.

ALLWOOD: Loser

CHARLIE: Safe with Dad

BN is pleased that little Charley, whom readers can see is a lovely little boy, will now grow up with a responsible parent in a normal and healthy family atmosphere.

INTERNET NEWS

The BNP's Web Site is the liveliest political web site in the country bar none. Efforts by the Labour party etc are boring and dry as dust. The site is now widely seen and generally known about — as the number of enquiries from university students indicates.

Recent tests showed a hit rate of 1,500 per month — but this is off peak only since peak time usage invariably leads the counter programme to 'time out' and so not record a 'hit'. Calculations indicate that the true hit rate is around 2,500 per month.

The content is gradually being expanded, with extra items being added every month. There is continuous publicity for the site, and the BNP, within uk.politics — the main Internet discussion newsgroup on British politics.

All BNP units are asked to include the address of our site, given below, on leaflets and newsletters they produce. It must be copied exactly as even a full stop different will prevent its use.

TO THE POINT

Or, We Couldn't Put It Better Ourselves – A selection of articles and letters in the establishment press showing opinion moving our way.

Let's be plain about what abortion's not about. It's not about "a woman's right to choose." A woman has a right to choose whether she gets pregnant and, if that right were more exercised, most abortions would not be necessary. As things stand, society's only means of regeneration — its greatest interest — is through a woman's body. That makes abortion not just a matter for the individual mother but for all of us.

Yet what are women choosing? In American cities, there is a direct correlation between rising abortion numbers and irresponsible male behaviour, suggesting that it is de facto a man's right to choose — "I ain't payin' for no child: get rid of it."

A society that makes abortion available freely is not acting neutrally: it is eroding our most basic moral sense. Today's abortion rates testify to a massive failure: given the opportunity to 'take control' of their bodies, women have instead colluded in a frivolous assault on them.

The pro-choice movement wants to remove guilt and shame from abortion, the shame that once drove single women to dark backstreets in faraway towns. But for most of the millions of elective terminations, shame is an appropriate response.

Mark Steyn,
The Guardian

Why the outrage at paedophiles and pornographers? If British people want to know how they themselves have helped define perceptions of the role of women and girls, let them wander into any reputable high-street newsagent, where the top couple of shelves provide the shopper of any age with a range of pornography probably wider than the range of material for any other interest group. They will find plenty of examples of women dressed up, or rather down, in parodies of little-girl outfits, adopting little girls' apparently helpless poses.

While we are not actively campaigning against this perpetually insulting display, we are supporting those who profit from it and encouraging everyone to believe that it's OK to view women primarily as objects for sex.

Jenny Pugsley
Letter, The Guardian

SIR-Under the heading 'Blacks targeted to be diplomats' (report, March 26), we learn of Foreign Office concern at the shortage of non-white applicants to the FO's so-called 'fast stream', and that an annual recruitment drive is to be made for potential ambassadors.

Apparently last year's figures showed that, of 2,575 hopefuls joining the stream, 'only 208 were from ethnic minorities'. That word 'only' seems entirely inappropriate.

Most equal-opportunity guidelines are based on the odd notion that all recruitment (except, of course, to the exotic ranks of the Commission for Racial Equality) should reflect the national population profile.

Officially, about 5.5 per cent of the United Kingdom's total population is from the ethnic minorities. Yet the FO's own figures indicate that these groups accounted for well over 8 per cent (208 out of 2,575) of the top-level applicants.

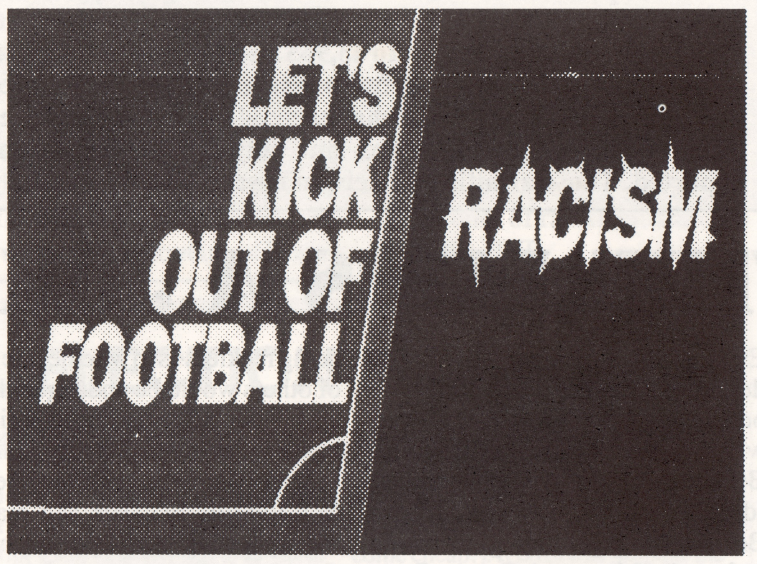

Even the final selection, which the FO finds so disappointing, is statistically as well as politically correct. Of the 21 candidates who got through, 'only one' (in other words approximately 5.5 per cent) turns out to have been non-white.

At a time when positive discrimination, affirmative action, quotas and the like are totally discredited even in America, the land of their birth, how much 'better' does the Foreign Office hope to do?

And does this allegedly Conservative government seriously believe that there are votes to be had by continuing to pander as it does to the prejudices of the race relations industry?

Dennis Coward
Letter, The Daily Telegraph

KONDEMNATION KORNER

The Let's Kick Racism/Respect All Fans campaign was set up in August 1993, when the Commission for Racial Equality became increasingly concerned about a number of worrying trends, which included racial harassment, violent acts perpetrated by young people and the increased activity of extreme organisations, (such as the British National Party) in targeting and recruiting young people in and around football matches.

THE LET'S KICK RACISM CAMPAIGN:
More than just a touch of the fantasy football about this one.
Mainly just fantasy!

REPATRIATION STORMS BACK INTO THE NEWS AS BLACKS AND BNP AGREE ON REPATRIATION

Following directly after last month's BN headlined 'Blacks desperate to go home', came the story of Archie O'Brien, the Bermudan-born Rastafarian who contacted the BNP to explore ways of helping him emigrate to Ghana in Africa. Archie is not the first Black person to have contacted the party in this manner. Last year, a West Indian lady contacted the party in similar circumstances and party officials referred her to the Home Office and to Black MP Bernie Grant who has been campaigning for the government-funded repatriation of Black people in Britain.

Mr. O'Brien contacted the party last month after contacting Black organizations first and finding that there was no help to be had. The government's own funds for repatriation last year amounted to a pitiful £160,000 and are off limits to Blacks born in Britain. Not only that, the grants given do not even cover the airfare!

Mr. O'Brien's story was carried in Britain's Black newspaper, The Voice and was taken up by The Guardian and finally by the London Tonight news programme. The Guardian article in particular was very good publicity for the party as can be seen (right) in which the party comes out of the story looking very much like the good guy — which of course it is.

Mr O'Brien said that he "can't survive as a Black man" in London. "I can only express myself in Africa surrounded by my own people and by nature." On the BNP he said "They have been very supportive. In fact they've been more helpful than most Black people."

The London Tonight programme was a useful plug for the party in which Bernie Grant MP made the comment that contacting the BNP for help was a sign of the desperation of Black people wanting to go home. Tony Lecomber who appeared on the programme for the party had much of his comments edited out, but nevertheless came over as serious and professional and effectively promoted the party across the whole of London and the south east.

Since the story broke the party has also been contacted by another Black man, this time with a white wife. They too wish to emigrate to Africa. As usual, the party has referred them to the Home Office and to Bernie Grant. Hopefully pressure will mount on the government to: (a)Seriously increase funding for repatriation and; (b)End the shocking racial discrimination against Blacks born in Britain who wish to return to their ancestral homelands. They should get the money — let them go!

As the party asks in a recently produced leaflet on repatriation: 'Who are the real racists?'

In the meantime, BN wishes Archie O'Brien and his young family the best of luck in their quest to emigrate to Ghana. Bon Voyage!

TONY LECOMBER: Smart and professional

Rastafarian turns to BNP for help in move to Africa

Vivek Chaudhary

ARCHIE O'Brien has a dream — to live in Africa, the promised land, he says, of all black people.

But getting there from his home in Edmonton, north London, has proved something of a problem for the Rastafarian, who approached several black organisations and his local MP Bernie Grant, only to be told he could not get any money to relocate his family.

So Mr O'Brien, aged 26, has enlisted the help of the far-right British National Party (BNP) in his quest to live in Africa, preferably Ghana, where he plans to set up a development centre, build houses, and teach "Africans at home and abroad about their cultural heritage".

Mr O'Brien, an unemployed chef born in Bermuda and living in London for the past two years with his wife and two children, said: "I approached the BNP because there was nobody else who wanted to help me. They have been very supportive. In fact, they've been more helpful than most black people. They have listened to me and said they would write letters to the Government and other organisations. I note realised we are both on the same track."

Mr O'Brien said the BNP advised him to write to the Home Secretary, and sent him details about the Government's, repatriation scheme.

"The scheme only applies to people born abroad. Bermuda is still a British colony so I was not entitled to any money. The children of slaves are not entitled to any money to return to the promised land of Africa, and I think that's wrong."

The BNP said yesterday that while it could not afford to fund Mr O'Brien's journey, it planned to write letters in his support and put him in touch with organisations that can help.

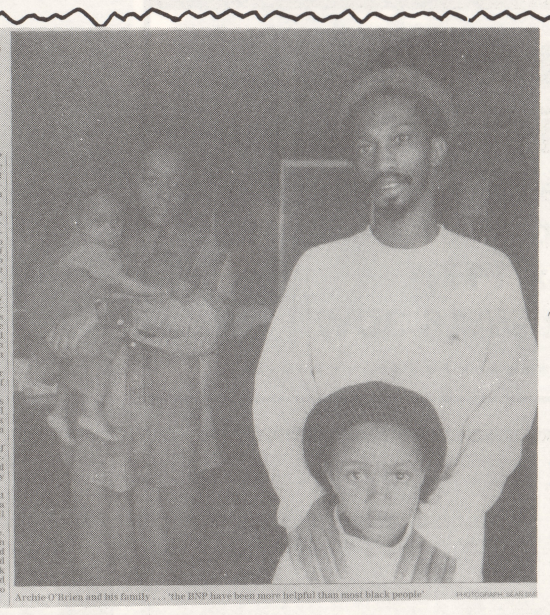

The BNP campaigns for the forcible repatriation of all black people.

Mr O'Brien says he needs to live in Africa because "I can't survive as a black man and a naturalist in London.

"I can't express myself here. I can only express myself in Africa, surrounded by my own people and by nature."

He is quick to point out that he is not advocating a return to Africa for all black people.

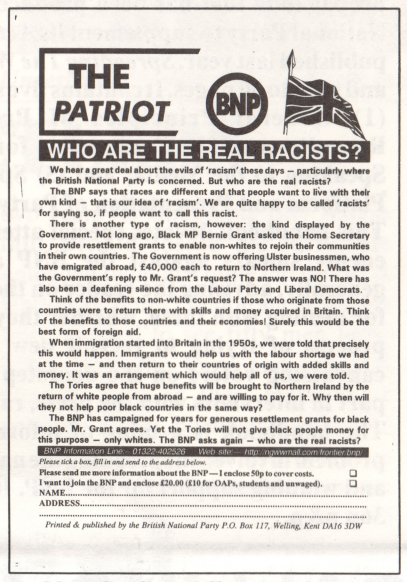

"It's not for everyone. You have to reach a certain level of consciousness and be able to live off the land before you go there. Black people have to be prepared before they return to Africa."

Archie O'Brien and his family . . . "the BNP have been more helpful than most black people"

THE PATRIOT BNP

WHO ARE THE REAL RACISTS?

We hear a great deal about the evils of 'racism' these days — particularly where the British National Party is concerned. But who are the real racists?

The BNP says that races are different and that people want to live with their own kind — that is our idea of 'racism'. We are quite happy to be called 'racists' for saying so, if people want to call this racist.

There is another type of racism, however: the kind displayed by the Government. Not long ago, Black MP Bernie Grant asked the Home Secretary to provide resettlement grants to enable non-whites to rejoin their communities in their own countries. The Government is now offering Ulster businessmen, who have emigrated abroad, £40,000 each to return to Northern Ireland. What was the Government's reply to Mr. Grant's request? The answer was NO! There has also been a deafening silence from the Labour Party and Liberal Democrats.

Think of the benefits to non-white countries if those who originate from those countries were to return there with skills and money acquired in Britain. Think of the benefits to those countries and their economies! Surely this would be the best form of foreign aid.

When immigration started into Britain in the 1950s, we were told that precisely this would happen. Immigrants would help us with the labour shortage we had at the time — and then return to their countries of origin with added skills and money. It was an arrangement which would help all of us, we were told.

The Tories agree that huge benefits will be brought to Northern Ireland by the return of white people from abroad — and are willing to pay for it. Why then will they not help poor black countries in the same way?

The BNP has campaigned for years for generous resettlement grants for black people. Mr. Grant agrees. Yet the Tories will not give black people money for this purpose — only whites. The BNP asks again — who are the real racists?

BN BRIEFING

REPATRIATION FILE

In one of the biggest repatriation schèmes of modern times, more than one million Rwandan refugees are to be repatriated by Zaire back to Rwanda, in an agreement reached by both governments.

● Germany is to begin repatriation of 325,000 Bosnians from the 1st of October. The cost to Germany of harbouring the refugees from the 1993 war has totalled £6.5 billion. The Germans want the Bosnians, mostly Muslim but with some Croats, to leave voluntarily, but it was made plain that the repatriation will be compulsory when Interior Minister, Manfred Kanther said: "If they don't go voluntarily, they can be deported."

Croats living in the Bosnian Federation don't want Muslims moving into their areas and neither do Serbs. Most Muslims arelikely to head for Muslim areas of the Federation, proving that most people are happiest living with their own kind whether they be Germans, Serbs, Croats or Muslims.

● In the United Arab Emirates, repatriation is handled rather differently. The government has given all illegal workers (foreign workers make up 85 per cent of the population!) a deadline to quit the country. Employers who harbour illegals after that date are to be fined or imprisoned and illegals will be subject to fines followed by deportation. More than 120,000 illegals from the Phillipines, India, Pakistan and Bangladesh have rushed to get their 'outpasses' — permission to leave and another 100,000 are expected to get their outpass before the deadline.

In neighbouring Bahrain, Asians have been attacked by local Arabs because of widespread unemployment. Immigration and the social dislocation it creates are world wide problems. The sensible solution of repatriation works every time!

COLONISATION

Leicester, population 280,000, is 28 per cent Asian. This figure does not include non Asians such as Blacks. During the last war many Britons fought because they believed their country was under threat of foreign invasion. Today, they must be sorely disillusioned.

PIGGY CLARKE URGES RESTRAINT ON WORKERS AND SELLS BRITAIN'S CHILDREN INTO DEBT BONDAGE

Chancellor Kenneth Clarke has called for public sector employees to accept lower than inflation pay deals. Public sector workers who have seen the fat-cat bosses of privatised utility companies award themselves enormous increases of tens of thousands of pounds are not likely to be impressed. Clarke's call comes hard on the heels of MPs voting themselves a 26 per cent pay rise, (and which also gave many, though this was much less publicised, a pension worth £494,000). Workers, on the other hand, have been told to accept less than 2.4 per cent.

Kenneth Clarke is being billed in the Tory press as a miracle worker and a magician. Less publicised is the fact that Britain's debt has doubled over just two years to £380 billion (see August BN). Anyone can borrow and live beyond their means and this is precisely what Kenneth Clarke is doing for Britain.

Over the last month alone, Clarke has borrowed £5.5 billion. The government does this by 'selling' Treasury stock. Selling such stock (see press announcement, above right) is the government's way of borrowing money. The 2021 date shows when the full sum is to be repaid and the 8 per cent figure is the interest the government will pay on the debt every six months.

Is this particular £3 billion to finance tax cuts in November? Or is it to shore up Clarke's incompetent handling of the economy? Either way Clarke is robbing children, who will have to pay the debt in years to come, to pay for his and his government's failure. Whatever Clarke is, he is no magician.

WHITES FACE RACISM

Southwark council's housing department in South London has compiled a report detailing the systematic racial abuse and harassment of a white family by their black neighbours. The report urges the council to take out an injunction against the black Charlton family, which it says carried out a racial vendetta.

While not the first to have racially harassed their white neighbours, the Charlton's are believed to be the first black family to have had action taken against them. This action may have been a long time coming, but it does at least demolish the theory that only black people face racism.

Letters

Sir,
I enclose £9.25 postal order for the next years supply of your excellent paper. Very soon I intend to help the BNP more than I have been able to of late. Carry on with the good work.
David Haddenham,
Bury St. Edmonds.

Sir,
"East is east and west is west and never the twain shall meet" is a well known saying. I recently applied for a job with the benefits agency. I was interviewed by two women, both Asian.

One of the questions on the form was to give an example of a situation where you have had to adapt to change. I replied that I had done so all my life — this country being unrecognisable from when I was a child. They asked me what I meant? I enlarged primarily on environmental issues, the destruction of our countryside, increased traffic and pollution, rising crime etc. But I was in all honesty unable to say that things had changed for the better and I could see what was going through their minds.

Herein lies the rub. The British have made great improvements by our way of thinking in India, but the population as a whole did not want them and eventually we were asked to leave. Immigrants to this country consider 'betterment' according to standards brought from 'back home'. Advancement to them is advancement here of their own imported cultures which in turn can only mean the erosion of our own and consequent social strife.

A. Flick,
Hayes, Middlesex.

Sir,
I believe I have an excellent idea for a very cost effective action which can be undertaken by individual nationalists nationwide. This is to obtain copies of The Hoax of the Twentieth Century by Dr. A.R. Butz and Forged War Crimes Malign the German Nation by Udo Walendy and donate copies of them to their local libraries.

It is possible to ask the librarian for a written acknowledgement of the donation and to stipulate that the books are to be added to the lending stock. The second book in particular will reveal many of the photographs in other books on this topic are poor forgeries, and so will speed the day when books about the 'Holocaust' are placed into the fiction section. Both books together can be had from the BNP Book service for about £10.
Simon Sheppard,
Hull.

Sir,
Please find enclosed a postal order to the value of £9.25 for a twelve-issue subscription to British Nationalist. I have enjoyed all the issues received so far and I look forward to reading further editions.
A. Foster,
Edinburgh.

Sir,
Having just read your sample copies of British Nationalist and Spearhead, I find myself in total agreement with all policies and views expressed therein, especially those pertaining to repatriation and the welfare of the true British citizen.
D.V. McMamon,
Birmingham.

NEW HIGH-QUALITY SCOTTISH LEAFLET

This leaflet is the highest quality general leaflet yet put out by the party. Landscape A4 in size, it is 2-sided, and produced in 3 colours (red, blue & black). The leaflet is folded into three panels in the style of the Rights for Whites leaflet, only one side of which is shown here. Leaflet cost is £20 per thousand, postage rates are £5.25 for 1,000. All orders with cheques (no cash) to Glasgow BNP, PO. Box 85, Glasgow G51 2DS.

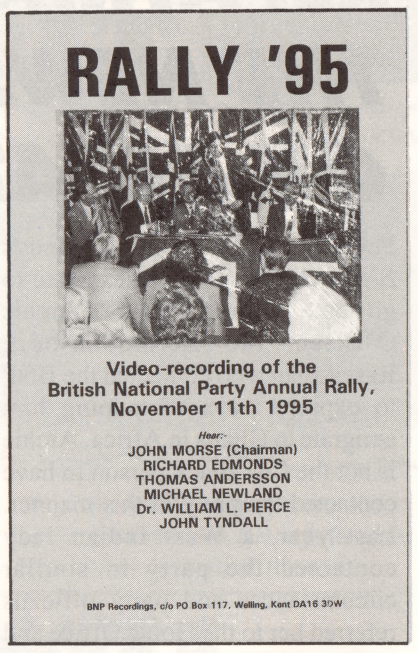

BNP BOOKLET

SPREADING THE WORD is a handbook on propaganda that has been produced by the British National Party to supplement its Activists' Handbook published last year. Spreading The Word is illustrated and runs to 60 pages. It contains five sections, namely: (1) General Principles of Propaganda; (2) Recruitment; (3) Canvassing for Elections; (4) Speaking to the Media; and (5) Speaking from the Platform and Presentation of Party Meetings.
This handbook devotes special attention to familiar enemy smears against the BNP and nationalists generally, advising the reader on the best techniques for dealing with these, whether they be raised in the process of trying to recruit new members, when canvassing voters on the doorstep or when taking part in interviews with the press, radio or television. The handbook is a mine of information on every problem involved in spreading the nationalist message and winning support for the BNP. It costs £1.50 plus 36p p&p.

LATEST VIDEO

RALLY '95: This is the video film of the British National Party's Annual Rally, held in East London on November 11th 1995. See and hear speakers: Richard Edmonds, Thomas Andersson, Michael Newland, Dr. William Pierce and John Tyndall with John Morse in the chair. Price £15.00 plus 98p p&p.

NEW LEAFLET

STRIKING NEW TWO-SIDED LEAFLET

Red, white and blue colours gives this leaflet plenty of impact in a politically topical leaflet making it very effective. All the best slogans are used in the leaflet which is currently the party's best recruiter. Price £9.50 per 1,000 plus £4.70 p&p or £5.25 p&p for 2,000.

BNP GENERAL ELECTION FEATURE

When the British National Party contests the next General Election the party will have distributed, courtesy of the Post Office, some two-million leaflets going into two-million homes.

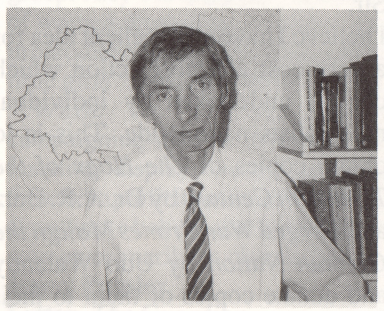

For the BNP, this will be a massive recruitment exercise and also a mass exercise in fighting elections. Some time after the next General Election when the public finally sees through Labour (who BN believes will win), there will be enormous opportunities for the BNP. Having done our recruiting in this election and having trained branch organisers right across the country in the necessities of fighting elections, the party will be well placed to take advantage of any opportunity which presents itself.

This month, BN features John Haycock, the party's candidate for the Leominster constituency and the most rural of any that the party will be contesting. The constituency is situated on the Welsh marches midway between Bristol and Birmingham and takes in a vast swathe of countryside (600 square miles) — something like half of the county of Hereford & Worcester, centred on Leominster.

John is a former soldier and is a relatively new recruit to the party; which he joined after concluding that stopping the decline of Britain was not possible under the establishment parties. Which in fact bear the chief responsibility for that decline.

John was adopted as the BNP candidate for Leominster back in January and stood as a BNP council candidate only days after receiving his membership card. A tremendous amount of literature has gone out in the area this year in the preparation for the election with several days of action drawing a helping hand from Bristol and Birmingham activists.

Quite clearly, some experimentation will be needed in this very white rural area to make the party's message relevant to voters in Leominster. John Haycock is just the man to do it! The sitting MP is Peter Temple-Morris (Conservative) who holds the seat with a 17,000 majority over the Liberal Democrats.

JOHN HAYCOCK

CORRECTION

Last month's General Election feature stated that the party contested the Brunswick ward council by-election in Camberwell, S.E. London in 1989. It was, of course, in 1991.

CALLING ALL PATRIOTS

We have a few vacancies left for a good seat where people are desperate to vote for the BNP at the next election. All patriots wishing to be considered to represent the party should write to PO. Box 117, Welling, Kent DA16 3DW enclosing a political c.v. There is no need for shyness. Look at the clowns who 'represent' the nation in Parliament. Any BNP member is far and away better than the corrupt and incompetent bunch there now.

There are no residential qualifications at General Elections unlike council elections and so seats could well be (and almost certainly will be) half way across the country from any candidate's home town. All that is required is that candidates are party members and on the electoral register!

GENERAL ELECTION FUND — WHERE THE MONEY'S GOING

Over the last two months, the party has hired top quality camera equipment on four occasions (it may well be more by the time you read this) and has been actively filming on location to give the party's General Election political broadcast the desired quality and impact needed to maximise recruitment and votes.

Location shots have included scenes of urban inner city ghettos, industrial dereliction and parliament, the body responsible for the first two evils. Other scenes include uplifting footage of healthy white children and beautiful scenery.

The party's political broadcast will be no mere '5-minute talking head', but an uplifting call for Britons everywhere to rally to the banner of racial nationalism with the BNP.

GENERAL ELECTION FUND

TARGET: £10,000; TOTAL RAISED: £3,995

The party urgently needs to raise £10,000 in a very short time to meet contingency bills for the running of the party's General Election campaign from the centre. This fund is entirely separate from locally organised election funds, whose purpose will be to raise money to finance local candidates. This central fund is intended to build up an adequate financial reserve to ensure that the party has an efficient headquarters organisation and is able to meet numerous expenses which will be involved in the central running of its election machine.

Included in the expenses will be the production of the BNP party political broadcast in which a professional camera will be hired (daily hire rates are from £350 plus per day!) to shoot footage to give it more impact and so increase the rate of recruitment and votes generated out of the broadcast; the printing costs of the party's election manifesto; the hire of a whole bank of telephones to deal with telephone enquiries from the broadcast and the hire of mobile telephones to assist organisers managing various campaigns; travel expenses incurred by personnel touring the country and in the transport of election literature to various constituencies; special publicity projects and not least, paying the printer a considerable sum in advance for the printing of the party's election addresses (Two million leaflets don't come cheap!). It is for this purpose the party is targeting to raise £10,000.

Last month, the appeal, raised £2000. BN wishes to thank all those who have donated to the fund over the last month, in particular two wonderfully generous readers. All readers in areas where there is no BNP unit contesting a seat and therefore not actively financing a local campaign should contribute to this fund.

All donations should marked 'General Election Fund' and sent to: PO. Box 117, Welling, Kent DA16 3DW

NEWHAM BNP CONTINUES MOSQUE CAMPAIGN

Newham BNP has continued to mount a very energetic campaign against the proposed Mosque in Beckton. Some 3,000 signatures were collected in Beckton, which is more or less one signature per household with fully half of all residents opposed to the scheme. Nevertheless, the council voted the proposal through despite the protests of residents. In a farcical turn of events, Muslims themselves are split over the Mosque, as factions within the Muslim community have proposed rival plans for the site.

A lot of publicity has resulted in the Docklands Express and the Newham Recorder, and the party has been making friends and supporters in the area at a very rapid rate. Organiser, Colin Smith has led the BNP campaign on this issue and door-to-door paper sales have been particularly successful.

At the same time, the venomously hostile Newham Recorder which clearly realises the potential of the party in the area has run a number of unfounded smear stories against the party which have all been referred to the Press Complaints Authority.

Elsewhere, Mosques are in the pipeline in Chichester, Surrey and in Prestwick, Scotland. The changing demographic nature of our country, and about which the British people were never consulted, is best exemplified in Prestwick, which in all fairness is a small outpost of Ayr, which itself is not all that big. Yet even here, Muslims are numerous enough to warrant their own Mosque. No part of the British Isles is safe from the creeping darkening of our nation which has never been put to a vote and everywhere there seems to be politicians of all stripes ready to put the interests of non-Britons before our own people.

The British people are being sold out. Our future, our culture, our right to live as a distinct people has been sold out. The only party campaigning in the interests of the British people is the British National Party.

GO-AHEAD FOR MOSQUE PLAN

Their scheme is for a smaller mosque and Islamic centre than one which was proposed by the UMA before the split.

Head of Planning Ram Aurora hopes to force Mr Syed to scale down the scheme even more.

In the coming weeks councillors will have to consider a proposal from Mr Syed's adversary, Latis Chowdhury, also a founder member. His side wishes to develop only a third of the site for a mosque, leaving the rest of the site for other community facilities.

He claimed Mr Syed and two supporters were banished from the UMA six months ago.

"We fell out and they were suspended," he said.

Mr Syed also claims to lead the UMA. He accused his rival of not having any following".

Headlines in the East End

THOUSANDS of angry residents claim they've been completely ignored" by Newham Council after permission was granted to build a mosque in Beckton.

BY LEE SERVIS

Campaigners who have battled for months to block the building in Tollgate Road say the council has ridden roughshod" over them.

Despite a 3,000-name petition against the scheme - plus dozens of objection letters and phone calls - Newham's planning chiefs gave the mosque the green light at last Wednesday's committee meeting.

Now Beckton residents will nake representations to the Secretary of State and ask for the matter to be looked into.

"How can the council ignore the voices of so many people?" asked Beckton resident Venetia Hazel.

"We collected a 3,000-name petition, plus I know there were 71 letters of objection sent to the council and nine phone calls."

Residents have always claimed the Tollgate Road site was not the ideal place for a mosque. They believe it will cause noise pollution, traffic congestion and overdevelopment of the area.

They suggested nearby Galleon's Reach was a prime site, but the council disagreed.

Fellow Beckton resident Carole Randall added: "This is shambolic More than 3,000 people signed the petition - that works out about one person per household in the area - and yet the council still gave permission."

At the meeting, the committee voted 10 for and two against the mosque - with a number abstaining.

"I really don't see this being the end of it, by any stretch of the imagination," added Ms Randall.

And fellow Beckton campaigner Avashi Owen added: "I have written to the Secretary, expressing the community's objection to the entire procedure, which we feel was not exactly impartial.

"We tried to put our points across at the committee meeting, but were told we only had three minutes.

"It seems incredibly unfair to give us just three minutes on an issue which will affect us residents far more than the councillors."

And Ms Owen added: "There are several procedural aspects being looked into for us and any suspicions or discrepancies will be brought to the attention of the Secretary of State."

OUTER EAST LONDON AND ESSEX MEETING

The Outer East London and Essex region of the party held a meeting in Chingford last month, to stir up interest in the borough of Waltham Forest for the party's candidate for the new Chingford and Woodford Green constituency. Outer East London and Essex are contesting no less than five seats at the next General Election making it one of the party's main electoral regions.

The meeting was addressed by Regional Organiser, Tony Lecomber and National Organiser, Richard Edmonds.

Early in his speech, Mr. Lecomber praised local member Alan Gould who is to be the party's candidate for Chingford and Woodford Green and who has also personally raised £400 of the required £500 deposit. Tony then gave an account of his own day which started with going to London's south bank to be interviewed for the London Tonight news programme (see report on page 5). Commenting on the Archie O'Brien story (see page 5), Mr. Lecomber told the 30-strong audience that the opportunity had been heaven sent — it was our issue and we were the good guys. "We should push this for all we're worth," he said.

Tony also detailed the seats that are to be contested at the next election making the region one of the strongest in the country.

Mr. Gould chaired the meeting — his first and did a creditable job, recounting the slide of Waltham Forest and providing some amusing anecdotes before introducing Mr. Edmonds.

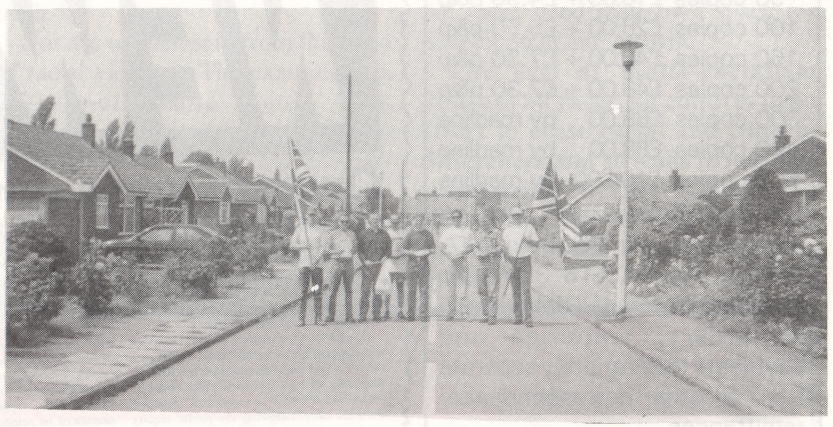

Speaking in Waltham Forest for the first time, Mr. Edmonds stressed the importance of the next election in terms of recruitment and development. He said: "It will make us a player in the period after the next election." Mr. Edmonds also recalled elections of the past and emphasised the hard work required to make the campaign a success. Lastly, Richard spoke of the events surrounding the BNP bookshop closure and detailed the local publicity in Bexley surrounding it, which continued for four straight weeks.

The meeting ended on a successful note with a collection of more than £170 towards the Chingford candidacy and two new activists recruited as a result of the meeting.

STOKE PILES ON PRESSURE

Stoke BNP is fortunate to be led by the very able Steve Batkin. Steve has introduced a dynamic into the Staffs area that has proved invaluable. One of the successes for Steve, was the formation of the nearby Burton-on-Trent group of the party. Burton and Stoke members regularly collaborate on activity projects, particularly regional days of action where concentration of activists in an area can promote the party more effectively with mass leaflet drives and High Street paper sales on an irregular basis. The key, of course, is the leafleting since paper sales are best achieved door-to-door.

Stoke BNP has achieved much in the short time the group has been going and is fielding the organiser, Steve Batkin as the party's candidate for Stoke South at the next Election.

BNP RALLY 1996
IMPORTANT NOTICE

This year's BNP annual rally has been rescheduled for the New Year. The reasoning behind the postponement is that the party would be better served by a New Year rally in order to give the party the biggest possible boost before the next election. Watch BN for details of the date, but keep the New Year free!

ENFIELD & EAST HERTS MEETING

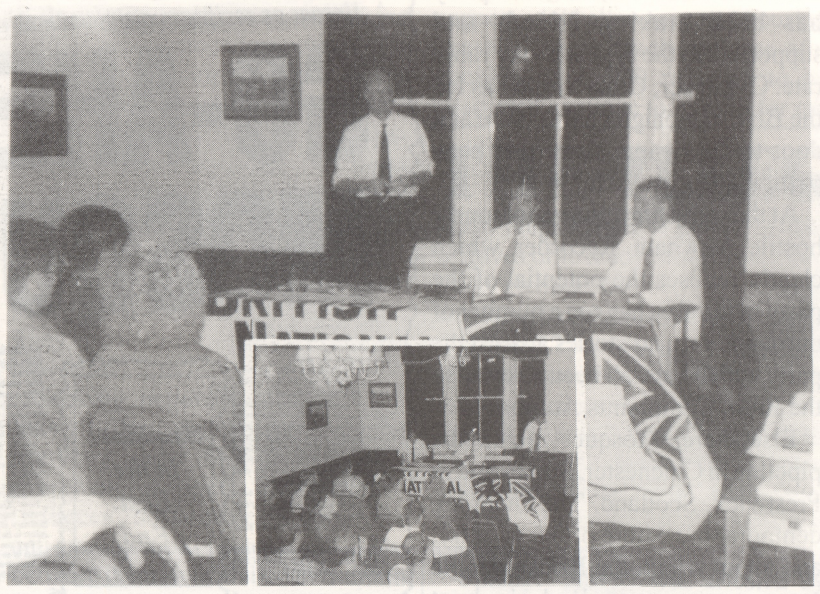

On the 27th of August, Enfield & East Herts branch of the BNP, a long established and powerful branch of the party with a continually growing membership, held their regular monthly meeting. This particular meeting was of more than usual interest to the branch's newest members, as the chairman, and leader of the Enfield & East Herts Branch, Dave Bruce was joined by guest speakers National Organiser Richard Edmonds and co-assistant National Organiser, Dave King.

The meeting began with Mr.Edmonds addressing the thirty strong audience on the subject of the BNP bookshop and its recent struggle to stay open. Mr. Edmonds informed the meeting of the financial problems caused in the legal battle with Bexley's recently elected Labour/liberal council. He went on to describe the proceedings in great detail and mentioned the legal costs involved and the importance of fund raising in the British National Party's struggle.

Dave King, based his speech mainly on fund-raising, commenting that fund-raising had never been so important with the forthcoming General Election looming over every branch of the BNP which is expecting to put up a candidate in its area. Mr. King also outlined new ideas in raising much needed finances, by increasing interest in BNP merchandise by widening the range of merchandise available to members. Dave also spoke on the importance of examining different branches, their successes and failures, so other branch leaders might learn from them.

The meeting closed with the chairman, Dave Bruce, commenting on the events at Stanstead Airport, when a jumbo jet landed with several Iraqi Hijackers on board. Mr. Bruce raised an ironic laugh amongst those present when he revealed the true aim of the hijackers, was to achieve asylum status in Britain. "Perhaps," Mr. Bruce commented, "this means that anyone wanting anything from Britain needs only to hijack a Jumbo Jet."

The meeting concluded with £312 being raised to go towards the Enfield & East Herts BNP election fund. The size of the collection only emphasises the commitment of Enfield & East Herts members and supporters to the party and the coming election campaign.

BNP BOOKSHOP PUBLICITY

THE PARTY received widespread publicity in the London borough of Bexley with the closure of the party's bookshop. The Bexleyheath and Welling Times and News Shopper ran the story for several weeks running, which indicated how large has been the presence of the party in Bexley.

Readers will recall (August BN) that the party had to close the shop for financial reasons when legal rulings on the question of whether or not the party was using the bookshop as a headquarters meant that incredibly, the party couldn't even sell its own paper, British Nationalist, and supporting magazine, Spearhead on the premises!

The subsequent reduction of trade as a result of not being able to retail these two items meant that the shop was no longer financially viable and consequently, the party could no longer keep the shop open.

Naturally, the party's opponents are delighted that the shop has closed, but the good news is that as a direct consequence of the closure, the party is in better financial shape than before. At the end of the day, the decision to close was made in the party's best interests, and not as to whether it might please party opponents. The News Shopper story tells it all.

BNP SHUTS BOOKSHOP

PRESSURE groups were rejoicing this week after confirmation that the British National Party has closed down its notorious bookshop in Welling.

Anti-racist campaigners now this continuous policy to make sure no planning laws are breached, together with local opposition, has made it too difficult for the BNP to operate there.

The BNP bookshop shares the same telephone number as listed for the BNP headquarters. Callers to the number are being informed in a recorded message by Mr Edmonds that the BNP bookshop is now closed. He goes on to give a Welling PO Box address where BNP book services can be reached.

NEWS Bexleyheath & Welling SHOPPER

Owner closes down BNP bookshop

THE controversial bookshop which has been home to the far-right British National Party for the past eight years has closed.

Richard Edmonds, BNP national officer and owner of the shop in Upper Wickham Lane, Welling, revealed to the News Shopper this week that the shop closed on July 4.

He said he had no plans to re-let the shop but will continue to live in the flat above. He said the party had taken the decision to close the shop after its legal advisors said it could no longer sell the BNP newspaper or magazine from the shop following the public inquiry ruling last year. He said the advice was confirmed when council officers came to the shop to check the BNP was abiding by planning conditions, and specifically looked for the newspaper and magazines.

Mr Edmonds said: "We thought it was so outrageous that we couldn't sell our own publications in a shop which I own that we decided to close." He said the BNP continues to operate a mail order business, but not from Upper Wickham Lane. He went on: "When the Labour Party captured Bexley in 1994 it announced its number one priority was to do something about the BNP bookshop — something it never mentioned when it was campaigning."

He said despite spending several thousand pounds on revamping the bookshop to meet the planning inspector's requirements, he was "not downhearted" at closing up. He rejected suggestions Bexley Council had forced the BNP to shut up shop. "I find the whole thing very interesting and very flattering."

Bexley Council confirmed it had received a letter from Mr Edmonds and said it would be inspecting the shop to satisfy itself the shop is now vacant.

What we stand for

- The establishment of a government of national unity that will put an end to nationally divisive party warfare; the return of leadership and statesmanship to British affairs.
- An end to immigration and a start to repatriation.
- British withdrawal from the European Community: trade with Europe where it suits us but no political ties.
- The disbanding of the multi-racial Commonwealth and its replacement by a new Commonwealth of self-governing white states.
- British ownership and control of British industry and resources.
- Protection of British industry by the selective exclusion of foreign manufactured goods from the British market.
- An end to the financial swindle that causes inflation and slump, and its replacement by a sane and fair financial system that will give the people the purchasing power to buy the goods they produce.
- The subordination of the power of the City to the power of Government, and the harnessing of the City to the needs of British industry.
- The regeneration of British farming, with the object of achieving the maximum self-sufficiency in food; also the restoration of the fishing industry by protection of our traditional fishing grounds.
- A healthy environment for a healthy people -- the protection of our countryside and an end to the architectural disfigurement of our towns and cities.
- Tougher treatment of criminals, including the return of the death penalty.
- A return to traditional methods of education, with stronger discipline in the classroom and the sacking of 'trendy' teachers.
- An alternative defence strategy: withdrawal from NATO; closure of all foreign military and air bases in Britain; British withdrawal from the war in former Yugoslavia, where no British interest is at stake; the bringing home of British forces from Germany; the strengthening of Britain's defences and a position of armed neutrality.
- An end to overseas aid and the allocation of the money saved to the financing of repatriation and greater help for the needy at home.
- The crushing of the IRA, the termination of the Anglo-Irish agreement and firm support for the loyalist majority in Northern Ireland.
- A return to healthy moral values aimed at strengthening the family and community.
